Workshop Report of: Research Methodology for Geography

Date : 14/01/2023

A one-day workshop titled "Research Methodology for Geography" was organized with the objective of enhancing participants' understanding of research methodologies applicable to geographical studies, on the occasion of Geography Day. Dr. A. L. Suryawanshi, an eminent scholar in the field of geography, served as the facilitator for the workshop, providing invaluable insights and guidance to attendees.

Objectives:

1. To familiarize participants with various research methods and techniques commonly used in geographical research.
2. To explore the process of designing and conducting geographical research projects.
3. To equip participants with the skills necessary for data collection, analysis, and interpretation in geographical studies.

This workshop on 'Research Methodology for Geography' was organized by Department of Geography for students. Hon. Prin. Dr. S. R. Jadhav inaugurated the workshop. Dr. Suryawanshi commenced the workshop with an overview of research methodology, highlighting its significance in geographical inquiry. Participants gained insights into the theoretical underpinnings of research design, the formulation of research questions, and the selection of appropriate methodologies.

Qualitative and Quantitative Methods: Through interactive discussions and case studies, participants were introduced to a range of qualitative and quantitative research methods relevant to geography. Dr. Suryawanshi elucidated the strengths and limitations of each approach, empowering participants to make informed decisions in their own research endeavors.

Fieldwork Techniques: Recognizing the importance of fieldwork in geographical research, a significant portion of the workshop was dedicated to exploring fieldwork techniques and best practices. Participants learned about various data collection methods, including surveys, interviews, observations, and geographic information system (GIS) mapping, and gained practical insights into conducting fieldwork effectively.

Data Analysis and Interpretation: Dr. Suryawanshi guided participants through the process of data analysis and interpretation, emphasizing the importance of rigor and accuracy in drawing meaningful conclusions from research findings. Attendees were introduced to statistical techniques, spatial analysis tools, and qualitative data analysis methods commonly employed in geographical research.

The one-day workshop on "Research Methodology for Geography," led by Dr. A. L. Suryawanshi, proved to be a valuable learning experience for participants, providing them with essential knowledge and skills for undertaking geographical research. By imparting theoretical insights, practical techniques, and real-world examples, the workshop has contributed to the professional development of attendees and the advancement of geographical scholarship.
