The program was inaugurated at the auspicious hands of our Hon. Prin. Dr. S. R. Jadhav, in his speech he highlighted how COVID-19 pandemic has transformed education, making digital learning essential. Further he encouraged the audience to get empowered with the skills needed to create engaging and effective e-content, ensuring that the students continue to receive quality education in these challenging times. And get ready to embark this journey of learning and innovation.

Session I: Understanding E-Content and its Importance

The first day of the webinar was led by Dr.B.H.Barhate, an expert in educational technology. Dr. Barathate introduced the concept of e-content and its growing importance in the current educational landscape. He emphasized the need for teachers to adapt to new teaching methods and provided an overview of the different types of e-content, including videos, interactive quizzes, and digital textbooks. The session also covered the fundamental principles of designing effective e-content, with a focus on maintaining student engagement and promoting active learning.

Session II: Tools and Platforms for E-Content Development

On the second day, Prof. Priyanka Barhate, introduced various tools and platforms available for e-content development. Miss Priyanka demonstrated the use of popular e-learning software such as Adobe Captivate, Articulate 360, and Canva. She provided step-by-step guides on how to use these tools to create visually appealing and pedagogically sound content. The session was highly interactive, with participants actively engaging in hands-on activities to familiarize themselves with the tools.

Session III: Best Practices in E-Content Design

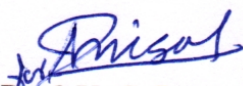

The third day was dedicated to exploring best practices in e-content design, led by coordinator of this program Prof. K. C. Deshmukh. He discussed the importance of aligning e-content with learning objectives and curriculum standards. He also highlighted the significance of accessibility in e-content design, ensuring that materials are inclusive and cater to diverse learners. Participants were encouraged to share their experiences and challenges, leading to a fruitful discussion on common pitfalls and solutions in e-content development.

Session III: Implementation and Evaluation of E-Content

The final day of the webinar focused on the implementation and evaluation of e-content. Prof. S. E. Pate, guided participants through the process of integrating e-content into their teaching practices. He discussed strategies for assessing the effectiveness of e-content and provided tools for collecting and analyzing student feedback. Prof. Pate also emphasized the importance of continuous improvement in e-content development, encouraging teachers to regularly update and refine their materials based on student performance and feedback.

The series got concluded on 26th May at the hands of IQAC Coordinator. Teacher participants gave feedback and appreciated for the opportunity to enhance their digital teaching capabilities. In all 61 teachers actively participated in this webinar series. The organizers expressed their commitment to providing ongoing support and resources to educators as they continue to adapt to the changing educational landscape.
